M+ Matters and M+ International: Archigram Cities

Archigram was an experimental architecture collective based in London, composed of six members: Warren Chalk, Peter Cook, Dennis Crompton, David Greene, Ron Herron, and Michael Webb. In the work of the Archigram group, architecture was about change, possibilities, and alternatives. As one of the earliest to explore architecture's engagement with transformations in urbanism, technology, and popular culture, and to address the rise of the user-consumer in a globally interconnected and hyper-mediated world, Archigram left an indelible mark on how architectural practice is understood in relation to society. In 2019, the Archigram archive entered the collections of M+. Through its dense layering of infrastructure, media, and commerce, Hong Kong can be read as an 'Archigram city', and the archive's presence here offers the potential to trace new, situated lines of inquiry in architecture and visual culture.

Join us on 4, 6, 10, 13, and 21 November for Archigram Cities, a series of online and offline events—including screenings, discussions, and a symposium— organised in collaboration with the Department of Architecture at the University of Hong Kong and the Power Station of Art in Shanghai. The events embed the Archigram archive in its new home and introduce Archigram's work to new audiences, through encounters between members of the Archigram group and architects, scholars, students, and the wider public from Hong Kong, mainland China, and elsewhere.

A Noble Soul Calms the Raging Seas

Grand Original Dance Drama Mazu the Sea Goddess
Premieres in December at Hong Kong Cultural Centre Grand Theatre

"A girl named Lin Mo is born on the ancient island of Meizhou in Fujian province, and grows up living in harmony with the ocean. When an epidemic breaks out, taking the lives of countless fishermen, Lin Mo risks her life gathering medicinal herbs from the mountains to save the other villagers. One day, a tempest sweeps in. Legend has it that a young girl must be sacrificed to appease the Dragon King of the seas and calm the waves. To save the fishermen, Lin Mo throws herself into the sea, where she is transformed into a red ray of light guiding their way home. From this time on, Lin Mo is celebrated as Mazu the Sea Goddess, guarding the vast seas and guiding her people safely home."

Mazu the Sea Goddess is a new dance drama directed and choreographed by National First Class Artist Yan Hongxia. Joining forces with top-notch designers, Mazu's pure and noble character and the accumulative culture and values of coastal folklore are vividly portrayed.

Microwave International New Media Arts Festival 2020: SHARP CHRONICLES

Microwave International New Media Arts Festival 2020 returns this year from 30 October to 15 November. With the curatorial theme Sharp Chronicles, the festival presents a series of exhibitions, online episodes, and screenings, to explore the pursuit of truth in face of information explosion and fabrication in the everyday life.

Media art is not merely the practice of creative ideas, but also embodies the characteristics of science and technology. Therefore, not only is media art capable of circulating messages, documenting evidence, instigating research and awareness, it also opens the possibilities of tracing and pursuing truth. The curatorial theme of this year's festival begins with this intention. In the everyday life of information overload, we ride on critical discussions and navigate between the threads of media art. Through which, we allow as many possibilities as possible, and reject any certainty to weave together our "Sharp Chronicles".

The preview of the Main Exhibition takes place on 30 October at the Exhibition Hall (Low Block) of Hong Kong City Hall. The exhibition brings together works from international artists, including Lawrence Abu Hamdan (Lebanon), Forensic Architecture (UK), Don't Follow the Wind (Japan, US, Italy), Tao Ya-Lun (Taiwan), Critical Art Ensemble (US), Tactical Tech (Germany), and more. Through the interaction between art and technology, the works look into issues such as the current application of voice analysis as lie detection method and the arbitrary nature of its verdict; the investigation of tear gas usage; misinformation; environmental triage; virtual reality vs. the real world etc. Registration is required for the preview, and the Main Exhibition opens to the public from 31 October to 8 November.
