

SINGING CICADAS

Social Impact Intern

Singing Cicadas is a socially conscious and impact driven multi-media production start-up based in Hong Kong. As one of the Cicadas for this post, you will mainly work for one of our flagship projects, 'Creativity is'.

Creativity is (www.creativityis.me), is a multi-year project to activate the hidden 'creativity' of the people in Hong Kong, in relation to the concepts of identity and meaning in life. It has created a range of productions from a short documentary, an online interactive journey, experimental experiences, a collection of everyday stories and more. As a Social Impact Intern here, you will need to (but not limited to):

Responsibilities (including but not limited to):

- Brainstorm and assist in the research and design of focus groups and workshops relevant to identity
- Create intervention plans
- Communicate and collaborate with NGO
- Support the team in daily administrative tasks
- Brainstorm, research and develop concepts
- Juggle multiple tasks at a time

Requirements (in this order of importance):

- Bachelor /Master students in Social Work, Social Policy, Social Innovation, Social Design or other discipline
- Proficient in written and spoken Chinese and English
- Great Communicator
- Strong interest in social impact projects
- Excellent knowledge of Microsoft Office
- Can-do attitude, flexible, self-aware, proactive, willing to learn and try new things
- Generous team player with an eye for details and the ability to multitask and work independently

Every day of work will be different and will be a challenge. You will also be exposed to all aspects of the media production industry. The period of our internship programme will be 8 weeks and you will work 2 days a week. If you have the appetite for growth and you want to be a part of a team that creates work with purpose, then you should send us your full resume, an atypical email about who you are and date of availability to Holly at hc@singingcicadas.com.
